Who We Are

Workforce Career Center (WCC) is an innovative workforce development hub where multiple training providers and industry experts come together under one roof to deliver high-quality career training and certification programs.

Rather than operating as a traditional school, WCC serves as a collaborative training ecosystem that brings together specialized schools, instructors, and workforce partners to offer a wide range of in-demand career pathways. From skilled trades and healthcare to technology and emerging industries, our facilities provide the space, infrastructure, and support services that allow trusted training providers to educate and certify the next generation of workers.

Through strong partnerships with employers, workforce agencies, and community organizations, WCC ensures that training programs are aligned with real labor market demand. By expanding access to education, removing barriers to training, and connecting students directly to employment opportunities, we help individuals launch sustainable careers while strengthening the workforce in the communities we serve.

Together with our partners, WCC is redefining workforce training by creating a centralized destination where opportunity, education, and career advancement meet.
